SENATE IS CLOSEByrnes Withdraws In The Race For Democratic LeaderBy The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 16.—Senator Byrnes (D-SC) withdrew today from the race for Democratic leader of the senate.

In a statement issued after the funeral service for Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the late leader, Byrnes said he "will not be a candidate."

The President invited Senator Harrison of Mississippi one of the chief prospects for Democratic senator, to the White House for a conference this afternoon.

It was understood that Senator Byrnes, of South Carolina, another of the major leadership prospects, also had been invited to the White House.

While there was no intimation of the nature of the conferences, the invitations were regarded by some senators as designed to offset the advantage given by the President to Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, the other leadership candidate, in conferring with him and writing to him last night.

Barkley and Harrison lunched together today and agreed to have a caucus of Senate Democrats on the leadership next Wednesday morning. The call was to be issued immediately by Senator Black, of Alabama, secretary of the conference.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Senator Gillette (D-Ia) expressed a hope today that President Roosevelt would still "see fit" to take some action to forestall resumption of "hostilities" over the court reform program.

Gillette was one of the four senators who urged the president yesterday to sidetrack the court legislation.

New echoes from the presidential letter, asserting it was "the duty of congress" to act on the judiciary reform legislation at this session, were heard immediately after today's state funeral for Senator Robinson.

Senator Burke (D-Neb), a leading court bill foe, said "someone has lost his sense of proportion."

Senator McNary, Republican leader, commenting on the chief executive's charge that the period for mourning Robinson's death was being violated, declared that "it was only at the white house that conferences were held and political activity was observable."

McNary, who has rarely engaged in the court controversy publicly, said "congress had preserved the dignities of the occasion" caused by Robinson's death and observed the mourning interval "with great respect."

Gillette expressed frank surprise at the presidential communication sent to Senator Barkley (D-Ky), a few hours after Gillette's white house visit.

Gillette and the other three senators were understood to have urged the president to let the court bill go back to committee so a less controversial proposal could be written for consideration next session.

"I am still in hopes the president will see fit to take leadership in some way to prevent the resumption of hostilities that will become unusually vitriolic and effect a compromise that will get support from both proponents and opponents," Gillette said today.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—A presidential injunction that it is "the duty of congress" to pass judiciary legislation at this session drew angry, defiant replies today from foes of the court bill.

The armistice called after the death of Senator Robinson was shattered even before his state funeral at noon.

"We will select our own bill and dispose of the court bill in our own way without dictation from any source, whatever," said Senator Van Nuys (D-Ind).

Senator Burke (D-Neb) commented, "If the president is determined to have the matter brought back to life, he will find the opposition ready to welcome the contest."

Opposition senators struck back vigorously at the president's statement that he was expressing his views before Robinson's funeral because "I find that advantage is being taken of what, in all decency, should be a period of mourning."

The tone of his statement and the replies of the foes gave a hint of the bitterness with which the senate debate will be resumed next Tuesday.

Senator Burke declared the opposition's effort to avoid the controversy during the period of mourn-

SON OF WEALTHY

Blocking Highways
Seeking Trio

SAPULPA, Okla., July 16—Posse men stood watch on blockaded highways today for Roy "Pete" Traxler, the southwest's No 1 bad man, believed fleeing northward after releasing the kidnapped son of a wealthy New York oil man.

The youth, 21-year-old Baird H. Markham, son of Gen. Baird Markham, an official of the American Petroleum Institute, was seized near Ada, Okla. Traxler, his left arm shattered by a bullet, and two compatriots, all escaped Texas convicts, took young Markham's automobile and forced him to accompany them.

Markham was released near here after eight hours and 15 minutes during which time he said the men crossed through the country, dodging a posse from which they had escaped by abandoning their own car and taking to the woods only shortly before.

Young Markham said all three men admitted they were fugitives from the Texas prison farm at Huntsville. Besides Traxler, he identified a second man as Charles Chapman. Chapman was wounded in the shoulder. Markham said.

The third man, Markham said, was referred to as "Fred." Fred Tindol of Jasper, Tex., was one of the nine men, who with Traxler and Chapman, escaped the farm amid gunfire July 8. Four of the nine were recaptured, one killed and guard was wounded. "Fred" was not wounded.

They discussed tying me to a tree," Markham said here today. "But then they decided if they dumped me out far enough from town they would be safe.

They finally decided to let me out of the car near Sapulpa. They seemed to think they could get to Tulsa before police would be notified.

Markham said the three men blocked a road to halt him as he drove near Steedman, Okla., toward an oil well test.

"They weren't interested in me," he said. "It was my car they wanted. They soon admitted their identity. All said they were escaped convicts from the Texas prison farm.

They decided at first they could not let me go because of the quickness with which I would notify police. Then they decided that if I was with them, the police wouldn't shoot, should they encounter any."

They talked about how great it was to be out of prison and said being caught was a matter of life and death with them."

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Judge John E. Mack, of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., who twice nominated Franklin D. Roosevelt for president, said today the chief executive would not run for a third term.

"The next presidential nominee," Mack told reporters, "will not be Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Mack is a lifelong friend and neighbor of the President. He was here today for a national labor relations board hearing.

By The Associated Press.

PITTSFIELD, Ill., July 16.—An 11-page signed statement of a soft-spoken pastor that he struck his "devoted friend," Mrs. Dennis Kelly, with a hammer during a roadside quarrel after she deserted her husband was claimed by authorities today. They said it solved the bizarre Mississippi river "floating body mystery."

Painstakingly, the Rev. C. E. Newton, 51, a married man, toiled in rolled shirt sleeves and stocking feet for six hours at the jail here over his version of how his 45-year-old former Paris, Mo., parishioner met violent death.

When it was ended, state's attorney Merrill Johnson of Pike County, Illinois, announced the statement and said Newton indicated willingness to plead guilty in case the grand jury indicted him. Newton, for 13 years pastor of a Baptist church at Paris, is charged with first degree murder, a crime for which the electric chair is the extreme penalty.

Today Johnston said he possessed a statement from a reliable source supporting his theory that Newton planned to "rid himself" of his wife. The prosecutor did not divulge the source other than to say it was an intimate associate of the preacher.

Johnson quoted Newton as saying Mrs. Kelly insisted he accompany her to California on her flight from home and husband which began Monday night at Paris in Newton's automobile.

On the Illinois side of the Mark Twain bridge over the Mississippi, opposite Hannibal, Mo., Mrs. Kelly got out of the car, the statement said.

"She halfway screamed that she would never get back in the car unless we were going together, at least."

Johnson said Newton related calmly that:

He struggled with the woman during which she twice fell to the pavement.

He drank "two or three small ones" from a whiskey bottle.

He struck the woman with a hammer upon becoming "excited" as an automobile approached.

Pushed Body In River

Then he dragged the body in the car, drove on the bridge and pushed the body off into the river. It was found floating near Louisiana, Mo., Tuesday morning.

More than $1,900 of Mrs. Kelly's money was said by officers to have been turned over by Newton to an adopted daughter, Miss Myra Hanan, before his arrest.

In his statement, the minister said Mrs. Kelley had placed the money in a pocket of his car and he thought no more about it until I got home."

Recently, the statement continued. Mrs. Kelly confided to him

SUSPECT IS HELD
AFTER A SLAYING

By The Associated Press.

CAMDEN, Mo., July 16.—Noad Light, 89, was found slain early today on his farm home six miles northwest of Richland. Sheriff Sam Laurie arrested Ray Osborne, about 35, who had been employed to care for Light, and held him in jail here pending investigation.

A coroner's jury found that Light died from a shotgun wound in the chest, at the hand of parties unknown.

Sheriff Laurie said a cousin of Ray Osborne testified that Osborne came to his home about 2 a. m. intoxicated and said he had killed a man, but did not say whom. Osborne left, the cousin said, and neighbors went to the Light home and found the aged man dead.

The sheriff found Osborne in the woods about 3:30 a. m. The officer said Osborne had made no statement.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The nation's great, led by President Roosevelt, paid their last respects today to Joseph T. Robinson, Democratic leader of the senate.

At the stroke of noon the throng of frock coated dignitaries marched into the gold-and-marble senate chamber for a simple state funeral.

The dead leader's massive silver casket, almost hidden by wreaths, occupied the center of the hall. An arm's length away stood the empty chair Robinson had used during the last of his 24 years in the senate.

Linens-clad spectators crowded the galleries.

BONES FOR WAR DOGS

According to foreign reports, President Roosevelt, in recent talks with Premier Van Zeeland of Belgium, suggested a program to end the danger of another big war. The means suggested would be "Political and economic appeasement."

That is a mouth-filling phrase. What does it mean? Apparently, easing the strain on hard-pressed and discontented nations by giving them things they need. The relief would have to be mainly economic, because economic conditions produce political conditions, leading to dictatorships and so on. It would include more trade, more credit, more access to raw materials, less spending for armament, and so on. The various governments would discuss such matters informally through their diplomats. If they seemed to be getting anywhere, there would be a general conference.

If anything can be done to stop the apparent drift toward another great war, perhaps this is the way to begin. The big question is whether the discontented powers, the "have-nots," will be reasonable in their demands, and whether the "haves" will be generous in sharing their gains from the last war.

Will Britain and France give Germany back her colonies and give Italy access to raw materials? Will Britain, France, America and the rest cut tariffs to stimulate international trade? Will all the powers quit fighting each other's political systems?

It is very hard for nations, however sensible at home, to deal sensibly with each other.

THE TWO DELLA'S

A few days ago in Jacksonville, Fla., Mrs. Della Weeks was introduced to Mrs. Della Weeks, and the two began to ask each other questions and discover coincidences. They found that they shared the same birthday, Oct. 6, 1884, and were born at almost the same hour, like Tom Carty and Prince Edward in Mark Twain's story.

Unfortunately the story neglects to say whether they look alike and whether they have similar tastes. One was born in Georgia, the other in New Jersey. Each married a Mr. Weeks, the two men being unrelated, and settled in Florida. Perhaps there have been other parallels in their lives. With the "Prince and the Pauper" story fresh in everyone's mind because of the popular movie version of it, there is a natural curiosity on the subject.

A NEW CHINA FACES JAPAN

From St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Continued fighting between Chinese and Japanese troops near Peiping with both sides now sending in reinforcements, makes it possible that the long-awaited military showdown between the two nations is imminent. Japan's appetite for dominance of all Eastern Asia is unsatisfied, and this moment may have been chosen, before China's militarization is complete and while troubles beset the Russian Army, to attempt pushing the conquest further.

If so, however, this will prove to be the most difficult step in Japan's long course of aggression, which ranges back to 1894. China is more effectively united economically, in morale and in military preparation than ever before in modern history. The meek submission of former tests at arms will not be repeated.

It is apparent that the Japanese people are not going to war on their own volition, if it is to be war, but are being pushed. The military clique, not the civil Government, has charge of the situation. The crisis arose, not after negotiations and ultimatums between the two capitals, but as the result of a stroke by Generals in the field. It may well be a desperate gesture by the militarists in the face of growing opposition at home to their aggressive course. The last election followed by the forcing out of Hayashi's reactionary Cabinet, showed that popular support of military expansion is of the weakest.

China, on the other hand, is rapidly becoming a nation solidly dedicated to fierce resistance against the invader. Chiang Kai-Shek has strengthened and united his people. He has not only ended his long war against the Chinese Communists, but has acceded to their demands for a stronger stand against Japan. An army estimated as large as 2,000,000 soldiers is available for the nation's defense, with the world's greatest source of manpower to draw upon.

Early victories in a war may go to Japan but the Chinese are a patient and persistent people. The Dragon, roused at last from his long slumbers, would be a formidable opponent. Perhaps pressure at home will serve to dissuade the Japanese military from a reckless adventure that could only reduce the nation's slender resources to bankruptcy, no matter what the fortunes of war.

WHERE CRIMINALS COME FROM

Notoriety of several city gangs has centered attention to them and created the impression that the great population centers produce our criminals. No doubt they do plenty of it. It is natural that conditions of the under-privileged promote crime.

However, there are plenty of law violators, and "big time" ones, too who start from rustic beginnings. John Dillinger was a farm boy. "Pretty Boy" Floyd has his beginnings in the Oklahoma hills, and scores of others were typical country criminals. They were products of small towns and the farm.

Causes for these youths taking up crime careers asserts the Courier-Post of Hannibal, are difficult to analyze. Environment is different from that of many in the cities and the opportunity is not so imminent. One reason may be that hard work and small remuneration lead them to petty crime, at first, and then they have had their start. It is not difficult to trace such careers after their beginnings. Gradually they lead them to greater and more daring ventures, perhaps a killing. From then on, they feel there is no use in turning back.

Whatever the impelling influences, there seems no pattern by which one can segregate criminals as to environment. Some of them are typical city products, with the natural hardened surface they so often possess, while others are country boys, who if they last long enough after starting on the road to crime, become equally hard.

STEP TOWARD 'BIG' NEWS

One of the most important events of 1937, from the standpoint of the well-being of the masses, may have been recorded modestly the other day when Dr. Edward Carl Rosenow of the Mayo Clinic announced that he had isolated the germ which causes infantile paralysis.

In itself, that may not mean much. Its significance comments the Springfield Leader and Press lies in the fact it paves the way for the development of a serum to cure or prevent this dreaded malady. It is the first step—and a long promising one—toward conquest of one of the scourges of the human race.

It is sometimes hard to tell what the really "big news" of the day is. Our attention is engrossed with wars and rumors of wars, with strikes and statistics of recovery, and with similar momentous matters. But from the viewpoint of history, the biggest news of 1937 may well be the work of the unassuming western scientist.

FLATTERY

One of the surest ways to reach the human heart is by gentle flattery. This does not mean that it can be retained, but simply reached.

Philosophy may disclaim against it, as it has for ages, but it still exists and will continue to exist and to exert its powers.

Few persons are fond of hearing about their faults. Reprove a person and he may respect you, but he will seldom open his heart to you. But speak of some generous act he has performed and though he may affect to despise anything that appears like flattery, his heart will become insensibly opened, and before he is aware you will have his confidence.

That point once gained and you may exert your influence for good. This position will doubtless be considered strange, but let those who doubt its truthfulness, try the experiment and they cannot fail to be satisfied with the result.

Truly, a little flattery accomplishes much.

CHAPTER 55

"THIS WILL be the last job you shall do for me, Charles," smiled the Colonel. "You'll have the paper as soon as I get my $100,000, and thereafter you can be an upright, honest, God-fearing solicitor, who can hold up his head in the law courts and look judges in the face. And this time it's quite a pleasant job. You'll be marrying the girl you want to marry—and who wants to marry you?"

"All right, you needn't rub it in," interrupted Charles. "You know I've really no choice in the matter." "Then you agree?"

Charles nodded. "Congratulations!" said Lutman. "I feel sure you will be very happy. I shall give you a very handsome wedding present. And now, just to celebrate the occasion, if there is anything in that safe of yours—a little whiskey, perhaps . . ."

"I counted on your wanting that, Lutman," said Charles with a smile, "so I brought a fresh bottle with me."

He rose, went to the safe, and opened the door. A few minutes later he turned, placed two glasses on the desk, tipped some whiskey into each and added some soda.

Lutman stood up and raised his glass.

"Charles! He gave it to you?"

"No; I took it—from his wallet—when he was out."

"Out?"

"Doped," exclaimed Charles. "I doped his whiskey—neurocaine. Got it from one of my less respectable clients and stored it behind Chitty on Contracts. He went down like a log, and then I did a little pilfering and handed him down to Allwright."

"Down?" repeated Jacqueline.

Charles stepped forward and pulled up the trap door.

"Down there," he said. "Have a look. That's the river. It runs under this house. Allwright came along in a boat and took him aboard. I went out this evening and fixed it with him. He's a good chap, Allwright—not too particular what cargo he carries. Luckily his boat was going sailing tonight. Shouldn't you be sailing to bed? You're shivering. Have some whiskey?"

She shook her head.

"I'm off to bed again, Charles," she said. "But I just want to say I'm glad—terribly glad!"

At the door she glanced back.

"What are you going to do, Charles—more work?"

"Not tonight."

"Sleep?"

"No; I don't think I could sleep."

"What, then?"

"Oh, just strut!" he grinned.

Charles, bearing a cup of steaming tea in his hand, mounted the spiral staircase and hammered noisily on Jacqueline's door.

"Jacqueline!"

"Hello!"

"Are you awake?"

"Yes—now!"

"Are you fit to be seen?"

"No!"

"Well, you'll find a dressing gown lying about somewhere. Stick it on and open the door."

A few moments of silence. Then:

"O. K., Charles. Come in!"

Charles went in. Jacqueline swathed in a voluminous dressing gown, seated on the edge ders, dragged him to the trap door, thrust his legs through the opening, and slowly lowered him into Captain Allwright's arms.

"O. K.!" came Allwright's voice, and Charles closed the trap door, straightened himself, and was turning toward the desk when he saw the door of the outer office open. Jacqueline stood in the doorway.

"You're marvelous, Charles. Will you do it when you're married?"

"Do what?"

"Is everything all right, Charles?"

"Absolutely. Why?"

"I thought I heard voices."

"I've been talking to Lutman."

"Where is he?"

Charles smiled.

"On his way to Antwerp, with Captain Allwright."

He thrust his hands into his pockets, and began to pace the room, smiling.

"Charles, don't strut!"

"Am I strutting?"

"Like a prize rooster."

"Well, I feel strutting," said Charles. "You see, Jacqueline, what you said to me tonight—upstairs. Well, I'm right up again for good and all, and not even Lutman can get me down again. Come and look." He beckoned to her and she went to him. "See those scraps of paper, Jacqueline?" he said, pointing to the wastepaper basket.

She nodded.

"Well, that's it—the paper—the one Lutman has been holding over my head to make me do his dirty jobs."

Charles stood up and raised his glass.

"Charles! He gave it to you?"

"No; I took it—from his wallet—when he was out."

"Out?"

CHARGE PROTECTION
REFUSED WORKERS

JOHNSTOWN, PA., July 16—A national conference of citizens' committees charged today that "certain public officials in high places" had refused to protect American citizens in their right to work.

Two hundred ministers, college professors and business men from 70 communities at the convention pledged themselves to "restore and protect those constitutional rights that have been taken from citizens by unworthy officials."

The delegates met yesterday at the call of the Johnstown citizens committee, which directed a back-to-work movement at the strike-beset Cambria works of the Bethlehem steel corporation.

In a resolution adopted after stormy debate, the conference deplored violence in strikes and advocated equal legal responsibilities for labor unions and employers.

J. G. Lester of Massillon, O., brought cheers when he declared: "The citizens' groups assembled here should tender a vote of thanks to Tom Girdler for smiting out the communistic activities brought on by Lewis (Chairman John L. Lewis of the C. I. O.), Secretary Perkins and Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Fined Over Bad Brakes

T. J. Shafer, given a traffic ticket by State Highway Patrolman Paul E. Corl for having had brakes on his automobile, and who failed to appear before Justice of the Peace W. R. Large the first of the week, was taken before Judge Large on Thursday evening, pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs.

Constable Poinexter arrested him at the Lake of the Ozarks.

HOME FROM MEET
OF MEDICAL COUNCIL

Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Nancy Lee and A. J. Jr. returned from St. Louis Thursday evening, where Dr. Campbell attended the meeting of the Council of the Missouri State Medical association held at the Melbourne hotel Wednesday.

This was the first meeting of the council since the meeting of the Municipal Opera, seeing "Salute to Spring" which they greatly enjoyed, stating the large amphitheatre was filled, there being more than 10,000 persons in attendance that evening.

All members of the council, the president and other officers of the state society were present at this meeting and much regular business of the council was transacted, including election of a secretary and editor of the state society for the ensuing year, to which office Dr. E. J. Goodwin of St. Louis, was elected and Mr. E. H. Bartlesmeyer, of St. Louis, was elected assistant secretary. Dr. John R. Caulk of St. Louis, was elected treasurer.

In the councilors' report Dr. Campbell was requested in advance by the chairman to discuss at the meeting the medical care of families under the Resettlement Administration, as the sixth district probably has as many families affected by the Resettlement Administration as any other district, approximately 100 families to each county in the district.

The general committee on arrangements for the next annual meeting at Jefferson City is: Dr. Breuer of St. James, Dr. A. J. Campbell of Sedalia, and Dr. Lehr of St. Louis. It was also left with this committee to decide as soon as possible the date for holding the Jefferson City meeting. The next meeting of the council will be held in November.

While Dr. St. Louis Dr. and Mrs. Campbell and children attended the Municipal Opera, seeing "Salute to Spring" which they greatly enjoyed, stating the large amphitheatre was filled, there being more than 10,000 persons in attendance that evening.

Only four cities reported temperatures of 100 degrees or more yesterday. They were Dodge City, Kas., 100; El Paso, Texas, 102; Phoenix, 106, and Yuma, Ariz., 108.

DIES WITH HIS LIPS
SEALED ON SHOOTING

By The Associated Press.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 16—A fashionable homeopathic obstetrician, Dr. George W. Webster, 39, died today on the operating table of a hospital here, his lips sealed on the mysterious circumstances surrounding his shooting in the early hours of the morning.

As police hurried to his home summoned by the doctor who crawled mortally wounded through two rooms to a telephone, patrolman Charles H. McNamara reported the physician told him:

"Don't look for clues now. Get me to a hospital. I'll tell you about the shooting later."

Questioned shortly after by Detective Raymond Fenner, who asked who shot him, the doctor again replied:

"I don't know. Get me to a hospital."

But at the hospital he died without opening his lips.

He was struck down by two pistol bullets, one in the stomach, the other in the shoulder. A third shot went wide.

Fenner, examined the abdominal wound in the doctor's own house, said Dr. Webster coolly told him: "That one has gone through the liver."

Police officials said they were without a single tangible clue to the mysterious shooting.

Dr. Ralph Purvine of Rhode Island Hospital, ambulance surgeon, said Dr. Webster had been suspended pending an investigation.

The police found $300, however, in the physician's clothing.

Deputy sup't James Cusick of the Detective Division theorized that the man who shot Dr. Webster followed him into the front vestibule after the physician had unlocked the door, and that when he heard a noise, the physician turned around.

There were no signs of struggle, Cusick said, and apparently the assailant fired at once.

Although he said Dr. Webster said the man then ran through the house and escaped, there was no sign of disorder in the house, and a back door was shut when the police arrived.

BREEZES COOL LARGE PORTION OF EAST

(By the Associated Press) Northwest breezes cooled most sections east of the Rockies today, checking a heat wave that caused approximately 400 deaths during the past 12 days.

J. R. Lloyd, of the Chicago weather bureau, said except for thunderstorms in the northeastern areas, generally fair and cooler weather would prevail in the lower Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys and the Great Lakes region. He said the temperature would rise Saturday in the northern plains region.

A wind, rain and electrical storm last night left Monroe, Mich., without lights or power. Fifty persons in a theatre escaped injury when the wind ripped off the roof.

TRIPLE TRAGEDY IS INVESTIGATED

By The Associated Press.

HANNIBAL, Mo., July 16.—The violent deaths of a farmer, his wife and a hired hand south of here were investigated today by Ralls county authorities.

Prosecuting Attorney Onie D. Newlon said the bodies of Mrs. Bud Foster, 33, and Albert McEwen, 16, who had been shot to death, were found lying on the dining room floor at their home last night. Later the body of Foster, 42, his throat slashed, was discovered in the early hours of the morning.

"We can not overlook the coincidence of these two killings, following on the heels of the first big bootlegging indictment since the end of prohibition. Both killings have all the signs of prohibition-time gang vengeance."

The first victim was found after firemen extinguished flames enveloping a stolen sedan.

Both the blazing automobile and the body of the second man, found early today, had been heavily soaked with oil. Besides wads of adhesive tape, police found bits of hempen rope with which the victim had been bound.

The prosecutor quoted Miss Carrie Hooten, Mrs. Foster's sister, as saying Foster entered the house as they were eating the evening meal and fired two shots from a gun he was carrying. She said she ran to a neighbor's home for help but that Mrs. Foster and McEwen were dead when they returned.

Questioned shortly after by Detective Raymond Fenner, who asked who shot him, the doctor again replied:

"I don't know. Get me to a hospital."

But at the hospital he died without opening his lips.

He was struck down by two pistol bullets, one in the stomach, the other in the shoulder. A third shot went wide.

SENATE PASSES
FARM MEASURE
ON THURSDAY

Authorizes 85 Million to Help Tenants Become Owners

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP) — The court bill broke a legislative jam Thursday and permitted enactment of long-pending farm legislation.

While the armistice declared upon the death of Senator Robinson kept the court fight off the floor, the Senate sent to the White House a bill authorizing an $85,000,000 outlay in three years to help tenants become farm owners.

It then joined the house in appropriating $1,000,000 to combat a grasshopper plague in western states, and permitted Senator Pope (D-Ia.) to introduce his proposed agricultural adjustment act of 1937.

Pope had tried in vain during the court debate to submit the measure, which he said embodies the recommendations of President Roosevelt. It includes Secretary Wallace's ever-normal granary proposal.

The tenancy legislation empowers the secretary of agriculture to lend $10,000,000 this fiscal year, $25,000,000 next and $50,000,000 thereafter, at 3 per cent interest, for farm purchases.

Loans would be repaid in 40 years, or less. Though tenants and sharecroppers buying land with federal aid would take title immediately, they could not sell the property for five years.

The bill also authorized $50,000,000 of appropriations in the next three years for the purchase and retirement of submarginal land, and makes provisions for use of relief and other funds for rehabilitation loans, at the president's discretion.

At the time of the bill's introduction, the Senate had been in session for 10 hours.

The bill was introduced by Senator Pope, who had been instrumental in the bill's passage through the Senate.

NEW YORK, July 16.—Two murderers bearing earmarks of typical gangland "rides" confronted Brooklyn police today, within 24 hours of the biggest batch of federal bootlegging indictments since prohibition.

One of the victims, found early this morning, had been beaten with adhesive, his skull cloven open, gasoline poured in and his body fired.

Because of the condition of the body police said identification would be difficult.

The other, identified as Samuel Silverman, 25, was found late yesterday in the charred ruins of an automobile, three bullet holes in his head and his body saturated with kerosene. A blond woman reported in his company earlier was taken into custody for questioning.

Seeking a possible link between the killings and the indictment of 42 alleged bootleggers yesterday, Assistant District Attorney William F. McGuinness, in charge of the homicide investigation, said:

"We can not overlook the coincidence of these two killings, following on the heels of the first big bootlegging indictment since the end of prohibition. Both killings have all the signs of prohibition-time gang vengeance."

The first victim was found after firemen extinguished flames enveloping a stolen sedan.

DAUGHTERS TRY TO GET FATHER BAIL

By The Associated Press.

LANSOWNE, Pa., July 16—Three daughters of Albert R. Knight, 53, sought today to raise $10,000 bail to release their father from jail at Media, where he was held on charges of attempting to murder them to collect $120,000 in insurance.

Knight was arrested on a charge of arson after a fire at his home May 28. The murder charge was filed yesterday by William R. Toal, assistant district attorney of Delaware county.

Toal said he learned Knight had taken out insurance policies on his daughters aggregating $60,000 face value, with a double indemnity clause, six months before the fire.

The daughters insured were, Ruth, 23; Sue, 19, and Mary 17. With their brother David, 15, they escaped from the burning house.

A fourth daughter, married and living in Honolulu, was named beneficiary. Toal, who declined to disclose her name, said "I don't know why he did this, but it didn't alter the aspect of the case in the least."

At the time of his arrest on the arson charge, Knight denied that he was implicated. He said he was in Washington on a business trip.

GIRL TELLS JURY SHE WAS ATTACKED

LOS ANGELES, July 16—District attorney's investigators disclosed today that Olive Everett, 11-year-old sister of two of three girls allegedly slain by Albert Dyer, WPA crossing watchman, told the county grand jury that four men had attacked her at various times in Centinela Park, from which the girls were lured to their death June 26.

District Attorney Buron Fitts ordered Haskell Wright, recreation supervisor at the park, held in technical custody on Olive's charges that he had "molested" her.

Wright has insisted that a man named "Eddie the Sailor" not Dyer, lured the girls from the park killed and ravished them. He was summoned before the grand jury a short time after Olive told of the asserted attacks on her. The girl previously had identified three men as "Edie the Sailor."

The Los Angeles Lawyer's club opened an independent investigation of the case and charged the District Attorney's and Sheriff's offices had violated Dyer's constitutional rights in obtaining his confession that he killed Madeline and Melba Everett and Jeanette Stephens.

Several lawyers said they had learned the confession was obtained by force.

Defiant Replies
From The Foes
Of Court Issue

ing had "not been followed by the other side."

President Roosevelt made his demand for action on court legislation in a letter to Acting Senate Leader Barkley of Kentucky.

He followed it up with a conference last night in which he and Barkley and other senators canvassed the legislative situation.

Only a few hours earlier four freshmen senators had discussed the court issue with the president, and according to word passed along by their colleagues, urged him to let the controversial measure go back to committee until next session. Their return to the capitol was followed by word that the advice might be accepted.

One of the four senators—Brown of Michigan—came out for the compromise bill only last week. After his white house call he issued a statement placing himself back in the non-committal column.

Opposition leaders quickly asserted they had enough votes to recommend the bill. But at a strategy conference, a division of sentiment developed as to whether the motion to recommit should be made, or the fight carried on for a decisive vote on the legislation itself.

Brown's shift, Robinson's death and announcement against the bill by Senator Maloney (D-Conn) gave the opposition a three vote margin in the line-up of publicly declared senators. The totals became 41 against, 38 for, 16 non-committal, and one vacany.

Lineup Extremely Close

Administration senators said the failure of the foes to agree on a recommitment move indicated they did not have the votes. They conceded, however, that the line-up was extremely close.

Foes reported the bill's supporters already were negotiating for a new compromise to replace the one now before the senate.

Intertwined with the court bill dispute was an increasingly heated undercover fight over the Democratic leadership in the senate.

Foes of the bill were lining up back of Senator Harrison of Mississippi, although he once had declared for the measure. Some of those on the other side of the judicial dispute were joining them.

Most of those who have gone along with the court bill were working for the selection of Barkley.

He was pronounced "more liberal" by a majority of the 14 first-year senators. This group, in an unusual caucus, agreed unanimously to support for leader "the man the president wants."

Most observers expressed the belief there was little doubt about his choice in view of his letter to Barkley followed by his conference with the Kentuckian last night. Harrison was absent.

The conference was attended only by Barkley and Senators Pittman, president pro tempore, Minton (D-Ind) and Schwellenbach (D-Wash). Afterward they said only that they had reported to the president of the status of all legislation, bill by bill.

The president in his letter to Barkley left the door wide open to compromise. After outlining the objectives of his proposal, he said:

"At no time have I nor any member of my administration insisted that the method or methods originally proposed be sacred or final except to point out that action was of immediate necessity and, therefore, that the process of constitutional amendment was an impossibility if the objective was to be attained within reasonable time.

"An abandonment of judicial reform, including, of course, all the federal courts, because of the inability of a majority of senators or a majority of representatives to agree on method and reach a vote, places the responsibility squarely on the congress of the United States.

"May I, therefore, tell you very simply once more that the objectives of the president, and, I believe of the great majority of our citizens, remain the same, and that I believe that it is the duty of the congress, and especially of the members of the majority party in the senate and the house of representatives, to pass legislation at this session to carry out the objectives."

The part of the letter to which opposition leaders took most violent exception was this:

"It is . . . with regret that I find that advantage is being taken of what, in all decency, should be a period of mourning.

"Because of this situation, however, I am compelled in the public interest, though against every inclination, to write to you. I do this because you are the acting majority leader of the senate."

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) leader of the foes, said:

"I cannot believe the president wrote such a letter. It would not be in character for the man who is the leader of our party, the president of our country and the man other liberals and I triumphed with in 1932 and 1936.

"I cannot believe Governor Roosevelt could make political capital out of tragedy of this sort. But if it is so, he must have accepted poor is to be in character for the man who is the leader of our party, the president of our country and the man other liberals and I triumphed with in 1932 and 1936.

"When Joe Robinson passed away, I cancelled all engagements and forgot the court bill. After Tuesday I hope we will all take counsel for the good of the country."

that her physician, Dr. H. C. Payne of Paris, Mo., had told her "she probably would not live more than two or three years." Last week they discussed Mrs. Kelly's leaving her husband because of "domestic incompatibility," the minister said.

As Newton completed his statement, Johnson asked: "Will you plead guilty?"

"I think the confession I have just signed takes care of that sufficiently," Newton replied placidly. Then a newspaper reporter asked bluntly: "Why did you do it?"

"You may read the confession. That must answer all questions of that nature," was the calm reply.

Newton smiled and chatted with authorities and newsmen as photographers took pictures. Then he was taken to his cell and immediately fell into a deep sleep.

Johnston said today he was not completely satisfied with Newton's statement and intended to question him anew concerning Mrs. Kelly's money and other angles.

The prosecutor planned to confer with Circuit Judge A. Clay Wilkins tomorrow regarding recall of the grand jury to seek an indictment with the congressional party.

After lying in state for six hours in the Arkansas capitol, Senator Robinson's body will be taken to a Methodist church for a final service.

State Business Halted

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 16—Official state business halted today while funeral services were conducted in Washington for Arkansas' distinguished son—Senator Joseph Robinson who died in the capital Wednesday.

Governor Carl E. Bailey, proclaiming a 30-day period of state mourning from July 14, ordered the statehouse closed.

The state military department, state police, county and city officials made arrangements to handle what they said would probably be the greatest funeral crowd in the state's history Sunday when services for the late Senator will be held here.

While plans for the funeral went ahead political undercurrents eddied around Governor Carl E. Bailey, key figure in all discussions concerning Senator Robinson's successor.

The 42-year-old executive has declined to comment until after the funeral. His close friends say he plans no interim appointment. Members of his staff said his decision on the special election had not been reached.

Former Governor J. M. Futrell, who has differed with the present governor many times in recent years, proposed that Mrs. Robinson be appointed.

A few hours before the minister's admission, Prosecuting Attorney Walter Stillwell at Hannibal, Mo., said Miss Myra Hanan, Newton's 36-year-old adopted daughter, quoted the minister as saying he had "done away" with Mrs. Kelly.

Earlier in the day Miss Hanan turned over to Sheriff Russell Wilkes at Paris, $1930 she said her foster father gave her for safe keeping.

"This presumably was part of the $1950 known to have been withdrawn from a Paris bank the day before by Mrs. Kelly," Wilkes said. Newton formerly was pastor of a Baptist church at Paris. He resigned about a year ago after a factional row over his being retained for a fourteenth year. Mrs. Kelly was one of his staunchest supporters and close friend.

The minister said Mrs. Kelly's death came after she had persuaded him to drive her to some point where she could catch a train or bus as she was "leaving her husband."

"When we got to Hannibal," said the minister in a statement made public by Johnston, "she wanted to go on. We asked the bridge attendant (on the Illinois side of the Twin Town bridge) about Hull, Ill. He said there were no connections there. I wanted to turn back. But we drove on a short distance.

"We argued and scuffled. She got out of the car and became hysterical. I got out and tried to get her back into the car.

"She fell on the pavement and hit her head. It began bleeding profusely.

"I picked her up and tried to put her into the car, then we both fell. I spoke to her but she did not answer.

"A number of cars were coming along the highway and I became panicky. Then I picked up a hammer I had in the car and struck her on the head with it. I knew she was dead. I turned the car around and drove back to the bridge and pushed her over the banister."

Of the large sum of money, Newton said in his statement "she had put the money in the pocket of my car."

"I didn't think any more about the money until I got home," his statement continued. "Then I gave it to Myra Hanan. She and my son, Noel, then took the luggage belonging to Mrs. Kelly from my car and burned it up."

State's Attorney Johnston said "I do not yet know" whether a special grand jury will be called to try Newton, who served four years as mayor of Kahoka, Mo., prior to 1922.

support the 29th army at Peiping and Tientsin.

With war apparently more imminent than at any stage of the tense crisis Japan began calling reserves to the colors. Many of them were valued employees of American firms in Japan. Police reserves were called out and the guards about munitions plants, navy yards and public buildings were trebled.

Special permits were required for admission to government offices where army, navy and home office officials were checking over last minute plans for mobilization.

Foreign embassies, particularly the Chinese, were placed under heavy guards of plain clothesmen and details were assigned to protect the 10,000 Chinese residents of Tokyo from possible danger.

Sir Hugo Knatchbull-Hugessen, British ambassador to China, conferred with Chinese and Japanese at Nanking to "keep in close touch" with the situation but not to mediate.

Chinese intelligence reports indicated Peiping was being cut off from reinforcements by a semi-circular line of Japanese fortifications sweeping south of the city.

Japanese and Korean civilians and wealthy Chinese residents were fleeing the city although the Japanese embassy said there had not yet been an official order to evacuate.

Peiping itself was ominously quiet.

Confer on Clashes

WASHINGTON, July 16—Doctor C. T. Wang, the Chinese ambassador, conferred with Secretary Hull 20 minutes today on the situation in the Far East resulting from clashes between Japanese and Chinese troops.

State department officials said the ambassador's visit was along the same lines as his previous calls, when exchanges of information were given.

Before the ambassador saw Hull he was asked by reporters whether the Chinese government had decided to call on signatories to the nine-power treaty to invoke that pact in the North China dispute.

The ambassador declined a direct answer.

President Roosevelt as well as Hull is keeping a close watch on Far Eastern developments. He canceled his regular week-end cruise so as to keep better informed.

God encourages a leader. Exodus 3:13-16; 4:10-15; 5:1 for Sunday, July 18. To Moses had been assigned a grave responsibility; it is a mark of strength that he does not plunge, but counts the cost and takes up the problems with God.

V. 13. "And Moses said unto God, behold, when I come unto the children of Israel, and shall say unto them, The God of your fathers hath sent me unto you; and they shall say unto me, What is his name? What shall I say unto them?" When one gets out of the practice of worshiping God, there is a loss of the reality of God and unconsciously something other than God dominates our lives. Moses' task was to make God dominant in the thought and life of the Israelites.

V. 14. "And God said unto Moses, I AM THAT I AM; and he said, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, I AM hath sent me unto you." The Israelites thought of God in the past as they had lost the sense of His presence. In God giving to himself the name I AM, he asserts His personality, since He speaks in the first person. He declares self-existence and affirms his abiding and unchanging presence and power.

V. 15. "And God said moreover to Moses, Thou shalt thus say unto the children of Israel, Jehovah, the God of your fathers, hath sent me unto you; this is my name forever, and this is my memorial unto all generations." Of all words, that of Jehovah is most sacred to all Jews; it was so sacred that they said Yahweh for Jehovah. To them profanity is the sin of sins.

V. 16. "Go and gather the elders of Israel together and say, Jehovah appeared unto me, saying: I have surely visited and seen that which is done to you in Egypt." God is conscious of the suffering of his children. He also cares for his suffering children, though it may not be as man desires.

V. 10. "And Moses said unto Jehovah, Oh, Lord, I am not eloquent; for I am slow of speech, and of a slow tongue." The word of God does not need man's eloquence, but it does need man's faith to be effectively applied.

V. 11. "And Jehovah said unto him: Who hath made man's mouth? or who maketh a man dumb, or deaf, or seeing, or blind? Is it not I, Jehovah?" God will not call us into service unfitted. He has fitted a mouth to our body to speak for him; however man must be at his best to use his mouth well, which calls for all the preparation we have.

V. 12. "I will be with thee and teach thy mouth what thou shalt say." Wisdom comes from God's word. In Moses' time there was no written word and so God spoke directly to him. To search for God's truth is one of man's major tasks.

V. 13. "And he said, O Lord, send, I pray thee, by the hand of him whom thou wilt send." Moses shrank from duty in that he asked that some one else perform his task. How human it is to make others carry our burdens if it can be done!

V. 14. "And the anger of Jehovah was kindled against Moses, and he said, Is not Aaron thy brother the Levite? I know that he can speak well. And also, behold he cometh forth to meet thee; and when he seeth thee he will be glad in his heart." God was not well pleased with Moses attempting to shirk speaking for him, but he provided a way out; in God's work there is a division of labor. Every man has a special work he can perform in God's kingdom.

V. 15. "And he shall by thy spokesman; and it shall come to pass that he shall be to thee a mouth, and thou shalt be to him as a mouth." In the proposed program there was to be a well-defined relationship by means of which God could speak and have his will carried out.

V. 16. "And afterward Moses and Aaron came, and said unto Pharaoh: Thus saith Jehovah, the God of Israel. Let my people go that they may hold a feast unto me in the wilderness." Here is recorded the beginning of a long controversy in which the king of Egypt had to be made conscious that God had spoken through Moses and Aaron, and that God's will must be honored.

ELKS' ALL-STAR WRESTLING CARD AT PARK TONIGHT

Dude Chick and Frankie Taylor in Main Bout;
McGuirk on Card

The Card

Main Event Cowboy Dude Chick, junior heavyweight champion, vs. Frankie Taylor, two out of three falls to a finish at catch weights.

Semi-Windup — LeRoy McGuirk, former light heavyweight champion, vs. Jack McDonald, two out of three falls, 45-minute time limit.

Opening Event—Sterling Davis vs. Jackie Nickols, one fall, 30-minute time limit.

After a lapse of two weeks necessitated by a change from a Thursday to a Friday night date the Elks weekly wrestling shows will be resumed at Liberty Park tonight with a program assembling one of the most outstanding arrays of talent in the history of the sport here.

The three-bout card will be headlined by a finish match between Cowboy Dude Chick, junior heavyweight titleholder, and Frankie Taylor, handsome southerner, and also will feature a return appearance of the popular LeRoy McGuirk, former N. W. A. light heavyweight champion, after an absence of two years.

McGuirk made one of his earliest professional appearances here two years ago and was an instant hit with the fans. He was national intercollegiate light heavyweight champion for two years before graduation from Oklahoma A. and M. college. Jack McDonald, the ex-Canadian woodchopper, will be McGuirk's opponent in the semi-final attraction.

Chick, like McGuirk, was one of the popular choices here two years ago when wrestling was at the height of its popularity in these parts. He appeared here a number of times and lost only one match, a questionable one, to "Red" Lyons.

The opening event which will go on at 8:30 o'clock will pit Sterling Davis, a clever young St. Louisian, against Jackie Nickols, who will be making his first appearance on the local mat.

Taylor also will be appearing here for the first time but he has a reputation as a headliner through the southwest and recently defeated Chick in a non-title match at Oklahoma City. Tonight's match, also a non-title affair, will be the first meeting of the pair since the Oklahoma City bout and Chick hopes to even the score.

to play singles for the United States against Germany in the Davis cup interzone tennis finals at Wimbledon. Budge will team with Gene Mako, of Los Angeles, for the doubles play.

Budge will play Heinrich Henkel as soon as the first match is out of the way and on Monday Budge and Mako will meet Von Cramm and Henkel in the doubles.

On Tuesday, Grant and Henkel will lead off in the first of the two final singles matches. Budge and Von Cramm will ring down the curtain on the interzone finals.

Yankees Lambast Four 14 Hits and 13-6 Win

DETROIT, July 16.—(P)—Opposition pitchers were still just a dime-a-dozen to the New York Yankee sluggers yesterday as they stretched their undefeated streak to ten straight games with a 13 to 6 trouncing of the Tigers.

Murderers' row belted Rowe, Lawson, Russell and Gill for 14 hits, including homers by Lazzari and Henrich, and never left any doubt about the outcome after piling up five runs in the first inning.

At the same time, Gomez and Murphy, who divided the Yankee pitching assignment, handcuffed the Tiger clouters with five hits, among them home runs by Greenberg (his 20th) and York. But for four New York errors, the Detroit run-production would have been cut to less than half of its final total. Gomez fanned eight in six frames.

FLYING CLIPPER BEATS SCHEDULE

By The Associated Press.
BOTWOOD, Newfoundland, July 16.—The Pan-American Clipper III landed here today at 4:52 a. m. C. S. T. after a flight across the Atlantic from Foynes, Irish Free State.

Capt. Harold Gray, Commander of the survey flight of the Atlantic airways, set the Clipper down in Botwood harbor just 16 hours and 27 minutes after leaving Foynes for the return leg of the round trip, three minutes ahead of the unofficial schedule.

The British flying boat Calidonia made the same trip in 15 hours and nine minutes a week ago while the Clipper was flying east.

Today the two boats passed over the Mid-Atlantic just as they did when they were flying in opposite directions on the first flights of the friendly race to gain supremacy of the Atlantic Airways by being first to establish regular commercial service.

RISING TREND IN TRADE CHANNELS

By The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 16.—Progress of trade met fewer obstructions this week even though the rising trend was uneven in some branches, Dun and Bradstreet said in its weekly trade review today.

"In spite of the slower rate of advance, most of the leading centers of retail distribution were ahead of the previous week's sales by two to five per cent, with no indications of a relaxation in the quest for all types of merchandise."

"Comparisons with a year ago were also favorable in some districts, narrowing the gain in the estimated volume of retail distribution over the corresponding 1936 week to 10 to 20 per cent."

"More headway was made in the acquisition of fall merchandise in the principal wholesale markets this week."

"With the gain distributed over almost all divisions, estimated wholesale volume ranged from 15 to 32 per cent larger than in the 1936 week."

PILL SLAVE FREED FROM CONSTIPATION

A convincing tribute is paid to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in this letter from Mr. F. C. Aminson of Seattle.

"I suffered with constipation for many years and was compelled to use pills every night. Since I got your ALL-BRAN, it works fine. I was so deathly sick of taking pills. Now it is so different. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN works so naturally, and is pleasant to eat."

Inside the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, forming a soft mass that gently sponges out the intestines. It also supplies vitamin B to help tone the intestines, and iron for the blood.

You'll enjoy eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. As a cereal with milk or fruits, or in appetizing recipes. Two tablespoonsfuls every day are usually enough—three times daily if needed. Sold by all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
